

OUR BUSINESS

Consolus is a systems integration company specializing in wireless and security solutions for voice and data. Our core competencies include a broad understanding of wireless technology, wireless security, and VoWLAN applications. As a wireless systems integrator and solutions delivery organization, Consolus assists in the planning, design, implementation, and ongoing support required for business critical wireless networks. Our team has successfully deployed secure and robust wireless solutions in the healthcare, hospitality, financial, manufacturing/distribution, WISP hotspots and education arenas.

The veteran team at Consolus began designing wireless networks before the 802.11 standards were fully ratified, and have extensive experience in supporting our customer throughout the network deployment life cycle. We have a successful track record of working with customers to meet the requirements of even the most challenging environments. We share a common philosophy and goals – to help our clients succeed, to build long-term partnerships, and to enjoy being the best at what we do.

Founded in 1999, the company initially focused on technology/application studies and consulting services. In early 2001 the company added Services Delivery for wireless voice and data infrastructures.

THE GOAL

Our goal as an organization is to build cooperative partnerships with our clients and provide quality service through teamwork, flexibility and integration into their business. We provide more than products and services – we strive to be trusted advisors our clients can turn to for honest, unbiased advice, highly skilled and flexible resources, and solutions to technology challenges.

THE ADVANTAGE

We provide our clients with predictability and flexibility for their technology resources, allowing them to achieve maximum operational efficiency.

THE SOLUTION

We collaborate with our clients to determine their needs today and for the future, and then deliver total solutions across their enterprise. We discover the technology and wireless connectivity solutions that make the most sense for our clients' business. We provide tangible results by leveraging experienced internal resources, key partners, and industry relationships.
