

Consolus is a systems integration and professional services company specializing in advanced technology services and applications for wireless, security, and VoIP. Consolus collaborates with our customers to provide best of class consulting solutions. We combine our customers' requirements for their wired and wireless networks into a comprehensive and cohesive solution.

Our engineers receive continuous training on the latest technologies, hold many industry certifications, and have proven track records implementing technology solutions.

BUSINESS CONSULTING

◆ Business Processes

With your knowledge of your business teamed with our experience in designing connectivity solutions, we work with you to build a solution that can be rapidly deployed. And help you quickly realize the benefits of an integrated solution — increased productivity, enhanced user experience, and reduced operational costs.

◆ Applications/Systems

Our network and security consultants have a thorough understanding of the applications and systems required to create a truly integrated solution — addressing both your wired and wireless requirements. Our training and knowledge transfer ensures your continued success.

◆ Integration

Consolus works closely with you to combine the requirements of your wired and wireless networks. Our consultants help you plan for future growth, add new technology and applications, and successfully integrate with your business partners. Services include system integration, software and hardware integration, and overall performance analysis.

TECHNOLOGY CONSULTING

◆ Wireless

It is important to first establish a baseline, understand the RF environment, and then develop a wireless strategy. Wireless services include site surveys, spectrum analysis, frequency/channel planning, and wireless technology reviews.

◆ Wireless (and Wired) Security

Information is one of the most valuable assets to your company and must be protected accordingly. Our security experts will perform assessments and help you design a system that maintains system security, data integrity, and privacy. Services also include penetration tests and vulnerability assessments.

◆ Infrastructure

Sound networking design and architecture are fundamental to your success. Whether it is designing a point-to-point solution, integrating a VoIP solution, or implementing a multi-point bridging solution, our engineers have the knowledge and experience to make it happen.

PROGRAM MANAGEMENT

Beginning with the initial set of questions our consultants ask, we build a detailed project plan to ensure the successful implementation of your solution. Our experienced project managers take into account your budget, resources, and timeframe to create a project plan that is both manageable and realistic.

◆ The Consolus Approach (Project Management)

Our project management methodology includes measurable milestones, achievable goals, and most importantly, constant communication. We work closely with you during every phase of the project life cycle, from network planning to optimization, ensuring success both during and at the completion of the project.

◆ Staff Augmentation

Consolus augments your staff by providing resources when your key resources are booked. Our skilled team of engineers, project managers, and consultants are available to step in and provide expertise where you need it the most. Whether your requirements are for the duration of the project or for a long-term commitment, our team has the experience and knowledge required to step in and provide immediate benefit to your company.

TRAINING SERVICES

Consolus offers a wide variety of training classes, including wireless technology fundamentals, wireless site surveys, wireless (and wired) security, and wireless network implementations. Our training consultants have developed and delivered wireless and network security training programs for medium to Fortune 500 companies.

Training classes can be held onsite and customized to your particular environment. In addition, we hold regular classes in our fully-equipped training rooms located in Denver.

Consolus has partnered with GlobalNet Training to offer intense network-focused training solutions. Course offerings include: Cisco®, Microsoft®, and wireless certification classes.

In addition, Consolus is certified with many of our partners to offer training on their technologies and applications. Contact Consolus for more information about its partner-based training offerings.